MUSCATINE, Iowa – Work on the West Hill Sewer Separation Project around the West 4th Street Park area is wrapping up according to city inspector Steve Dalbey.

The focus of the contractor, Haggerty Earthworks, is up around 4th Street Park. The contractor has finished all of the sewer work in the 4th Street Park area except for a short run on Cherry at West 4th Street. That work will be done very soon.

The intersection of Cherry and West 4th is closed for the time being but may be open by the end of the day Wednesday (Sept. 6). Frequent updates will be provided as it is a fluid situation in that intersection. The paving contractor is finishing the concrete work on Broadway at the #3 and #4 alleys on the east (lower) side of the park. West 4th between Locust and the park, and Broadway between the #3 and #4 alleys will be opened up to local traffic incrementally as the paving and dirt work are accomplished.

Sewer work on West 5th will likely begin within the next week or two.
