FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE
FEBRUARY 07, 2019

BUILDING DIVISION MANAGER IS NAMED FOR MUSCATINE

Former area resident returns home to lead Community Development division

MUSCATINE, Iowa – A former Southeastern Iowa resident, who spent over 20 years away from his hometown, is returning to the area that he grew up in to serve as the Building Division Manager for the Community Development Department of the City of Muscatine.

Jason Garmoe, MCP, officially began his duties as the Building Division Manager on Wednesday, Feb. 6, replacing Senior Inspector Michael Stensland who retired on Dec. 28, 2018.

“I am looking forward to getting out and meeting the public and the contractors,” Garmoe said. “I want to know what concerns the contractors might have and what we need to address in terms of permitting, inspections, and response time.”

Garmoe holds over 20 certifications from the International Code Council, seven Occupational Safety and Health Administration (OSHA) certifications, three Federal Emergency Management Agency certifications, and four State of Iowa training certificates.

“We are excited to be able to have someone with Jason’s qualifications to lead the building division,” Jodi Royal-Goodwin, interim director of Community Development said.

He previously served as the energy advisor for Maquoketa Valley Electric Cooperative in Anamosa, Iowa, the chief electrical inspector for the City of Cedar Rapids, Iowa, combination residential/commercial trades inspector for the Institute for Building Technology and Safety in Herndon, Virginia, and began as a building inspector for Jefferson County Commission in Charles Town, West Virginia.
