program is designed to assist communities in establishing more pollinator habitats. Pollinator populations have been declining in part due to habitat loss, pesticide use and parasitic mites. Pollinators play an essential role in our ecosystems and help pollinate a third of the food on our plates. Introducing flowers into a lawn not only helps bees and other pollinators, but can also increase the resilience of your yard by promoting deeper roots, increasing soil health and reducing the need to fertilize.

This program would be directed by the Stormwater Department with property owners required to sign up for the program annually so that strict oversight and management is assured. They would be required to display signage to educate neighbors and passersby about landscaping choices. Height restrictions currently in code would be maintained and all the turf alternatives allowed will require clean mowed borders and maintenance to 3" or less.

Over the past year, the Muscatine Art Center, including members of the staff, the Board of Trustees, the Friends board, the Support Foundation Advisory Committee, volunteers, and others have taken an in-depth look at the operations and the hopes for the organization's future. During this overview, Muscatine Art Center Director Melanie Alexander will highlight details of the plan as well as the insights and findings of de Novo Marketing, who conducted surveys, focus groups, and other meetings earlier in 2022.

Information on the presentations and other agenda items can be found by clicking AGENDA to download a PDF version of the City Council agenda and/or attachments.
