not been to the Art Center for a few years. They especially take note of changes like the rehabilitation of the Japanese Garden, the exhibitions, and the impressive collections on view."

This year's event features special touches in honor of the Art Center's 60th anniversary, including plein air painting demonstrations in the newly rehabilitated Japanese Garden, and exclusive exhibitions highlighting the permanent collection and local collaborations.

Throughout the afternoon, visitors will be able to peek over the shoulders of four local artists as they paint in the rehabilitated Japanese Garden. Art lovers can meet Tim Schiffer, former Director of Davenport's Figge Art Museum, whose "tributes to Muscatine", in the form of watercolor paintings, will be on view in the historic house.

Also on view are portraits from the permanent collection, a series of photographs by Randy Richmond, and highlights from Jim Burr's local history collection. The "Muscatine History Revisited" exhibition remains on view in the Stanley Gallery and offers an immersion into Muscatine's past.

Music enthusiasts will enjoy the sounds of Pandelirium's steel drums from 1 to 4 p.m. with an intermission from 2 to 3 p.m. that will feature Metro Mix Chorus who will delight listeners with four-part harmony and their barbershop style of music.

Other family-friendly activities include games in the courtyard, building with big blue blocks from Musser Public Library, studio projects for the children, art activities with the Muscatine

The Friends of the Muscatine Art Center's Annual Ice Cream Social has been a local tradition since 1979. The Friends organization supports the educational mission of the Muscatine Art Center and helps fund staff wages for the Education Coordinator and the Registrar / Curator.
