A SEASON OF CREATIVITY AT MUSCATINE ART CENTER

Heartfelt & Handmade Ornaments competition returns to support Friends mission

MUSCATINE, Iowa - Local and regional artists and crafters are sharing their talents for a great cause this holiday season, and the Muscatine Art Center invites everyone to join in the fun. The beloved Heartfelt & Handmade Ornament Competition has returned, and each ornament purchase supports Friends of the Muscatine Art Center and its mission to strengthen educational programs offered to the community.

All competition entries are now on view in the Muscatine Art Center's glass showcases near the main entrance. The first opportunity to purchase these one-of-a-kind ornaments will take place during the Family Festival & Market from 10:00 a.m. to 1:00 p.m. on Saturday, December 6. Admission is free of charge.

The Family Festival & Market transforms the historic Musser Mansion into a lively seasonal marketplace featuring craft and food vendors, holiday décor, and an exclusive opportunity to purchase collectibles from the estate of James (Jim) Burr. Children can enjoy hands-on holiday crafts in the studio, pose for pictures with Santa, and warm up at a free-will donation hot chocolate bar.

Visitors can shop ornaments and a festive assortment of handmade holiday goods from this year's vendors: Rose & Daisy Designs, Celebrate My Home, Aunt Marg's Caramels & More, Connie Sherman, The Rendezvous, Trinckety, OxyGlass Art, Brianna Faith Rivers, Michele Nowak, Bonnie M. Buelt, and Jim Burr Collectibles.

This year's entries were judged by Jame Hayes, Naomi DeWinter, and Cindi Kautz. The judges awarded first place to a three-dimensional stained-glass tree created by Ken Bierman. Second place was awarded to Marie Latta for her vintage jewelry tree ornament, and third place went to Kristy Cox for her crocheted depiction of Mary, Joseph, and Baby Jesus.

The People's Choice Award is now open for voting. All visitors are encouraged to cast a ballot for their favorite ornament through December 4th.

"This event captures everything we love about the season — creativity, community, and a spirit of giving," says Melanie Alexander, Director of the Muscatine Art Center. "The craftsmanship this year is extraordinary, and we're thrilled to offer visitors a fun, festive way to support the Friends of the Muscatine Art Center and our educational programs."

Each hand-crafted ornament is available for purchase on a first-come, first-served basis. After the Family Festival & Market on
